

JUSTIN CARLTON

GOLF COURSE DESIGNER

Established in 2001, Carlton Landworks, LLC was set up to service golf course projects in need of detailed feature work, such as bunker and green renovations.

Justin started his career shaping golf courses for the most recognizable golf architects in the world and quickly became known as an "A" shaper. Not only can Justin physically implement shaping of course features per the design vision, but more importantly he is able to look through a different lens during construction. This unique ability to understand golf course design from a construction mentality helps provide the ultimate project control.
